

Spring is Here!

Finally... I know it has been forever but I finally have time to post! Spring is here and I am just DYING to build stuff! I was on vacation last week and instead of relaxing, I spent my time building, improving, and renovating!

First off, I built some really cool barstools.

I got the plans here awhile back and adjusted the dimensions for my needs. I stained them with Rust-Oleum Ultimate Wood Stain in Sunbleached. I think they look awesome and they fit my bar area perfectly!

Then, I bought a new toy.

Sure, it cost a pretty penny but considering it is a tool I will use constantly, it was well worth it! So far, I'm impressed with the features (an indicator on the battery!!) and the power. His name is Max for "Max Power"!!

Anyway, I will do my best to post on a more regular basis as I complete new projects or come across new and exciting stuff to share! Stay tuned!
